Capitol Hill Briefing Rescheduled Thursday, June 11 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM ET

Cities are Essential: Protecting and Growing America’s Economic Recovery

Our Federal partner the National League of Cities has re-scheduled this virtual Capitol Hill Briefing and invite you to join.

To register, for more information and speaker bios for the Hill briefing, visit the event page.

Local governments are on the front lines of our nation's health, safety, and economic response to the coronavirus emergency. Communities need a strong local-federal partnership to stabilize local government operations, keep workers on the job, and maintain essential services to grow the economy.

Join a virtual Capitol Hill briefing on Thursday, June 11 to hear from federal leaders and local elected officials on how cities are the essential building blocks of a national economic recovery, as well as the big steps being taken by cities, towns and villages to restart local economies.

Speakers include:

- The Honorable Bill Cassidy, United States Senator (R-LA)
- The Honorable Bob Menendez, United States Senator (D-NJ)
- The Honorable Kathy Maness, Councilmember, Town of Lexington, South Carolina and 1st Vice President, National League of Cities
- The Honorable Gary Passanante, Mayor, Borough of Somerdale, New Jersey
- The Honorable Grover C. Robinson, IV, Mayor, City of Pensacola, Florida
- The Honorable Mark Shepherd, Mayor, City of Clearfield, Utah
- John Gallagher, Executive Director, Louisiana Municipal Association

The NJLM asks you to add your voice to the Cities are Essential Campaign. For other NLC Cities Are Essential resources, visit the campaign website.
